Herbs:

Ginseng Root: Helps the skin increase its own collagen production and makes it tonic, thus effectively fighting the signs of aging. The plant is rich in vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants, which together with the moisturizing and haemorrhagic effects of ginseng can be more easily absorbed into the skin. Recommended for dry, cracked, eczematous skin as well as for acne and acne prone skin.

Cat's claw: Anti-inflammatory. Recorded external applications include wounds, pimples, abscesses, dermatitis, ulcerative skin lesions, fungal skin infections, shingles, lupus, and haemorrhoids of varying severity.

Ginger root: Ginger stimulates the skin surface, increases blood circulation and can detoxify the skin due to its warming effect.

Mate leaf: contributes to the proper formation of collagen and through this to the maintenance of the normal condition and functioning of the skin. It supports the protection of cells against oxidative stress.

Chamomile: Rich in anti-inflammatory drugs, chamomile has a good effect on reddened, sensitive skin, soothes irritated skin and soothes inflammatory processes in the epithelial tissue.
Common rue: Its extract is used externally to relax tense muscles and tendons.

Linden flower: Smooths the skin, removes wrinkles, protects the skin, refreshes and suppresses inflammation. The flower of the linden tree has a moisturizing, pore-tightening, antibacterial and vitalizing effect due to its tannin, essential oil and flavonoid content in the care of skin that is deficient in fat and water.

Nettle leaf: A thorough skin cleanser, and its extract has a particularly good effect on oily skin.

Marigold: The active ingredients in marigold include flavonoids, sesquiterpenes, carotenoids, coumarin, and essential oils. It has anti-inflammatory, soothing and immune-boosting effects. It is also suitable for the treatment of scars, eczema, itchy skin, pimples, bruises and mild sunburn.
